HAVE CONFIDENCE IN MARY

"No creature ever loved Jesus Christ more ardently, nor showed more perfect submission to His will, than Mary, His mother. If then, this Savior, immolated for us sinners, gave His mother to us, an advocate and intercessor for all time, she cannot but comply with His request, and will not refuse us her assistance.

Let us, then, not hesitate to implore her pity; let us have recourse to her with great confidence in all our necessities, as she is an inexhaustible source of blessing, bestowing her favors in proportion to the confidence placed in her." – Dom Lorenzo Scupoli

Happy Anniversary of Your Ordination, Father Kiely!

Father Kiely celebrates the anniversary of his Ordination to the Priesthood on Saturday, November 12th. Happy anniversary, Father, and thank you for your dedication to our parish! We wish you the Lord's peace and love on your anniversary and in the year to come.

“Without the priest, the passion and death of our Lord would be of no avail. It is the priest who continues the work of redemption here on earth... What use would be a house filled with gold, were there no one to open its door? The priest holds the key to the treasures of heaven: it is he who opens the door. He is the steward of the good Lord; the administrator of His goods.” – St. John Vianney

A PRAYER AT ELECTION TIME

O Lord, Our Just and Loving Father, we thank you for the precious gift of human life that is greatly threatened by the culture of death. Aware of the dangers we are now facing, we ask that You guide us in electing the leaders our nation truly needs:

- Leaders with the wisdom to discern your providential plan,
- Leaders who understand the weakness of the human condition,
- Leaders who counsel our citizens to respect the rule of law,
- Leaders with the fortitude to face their opponents with grace,
- Leaders with knowledge of our Constitution and of natural rights,
- Leaders whose piety makes them aware of their own limitations,
- And leaders whose reverential fear informs their moral judgment.

We pray that the inalienable rights to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness, promised by our founders, may be preserved, protected, and defended for all, especially the most vulnerable members of our society. Almighty and Merciful God, sustain us in our struggle to live in peace as one nation under God. Amen.

THE HOLY FATHER'S PRAYER INTENTIONS FOR NOVEMBER

Countries Receiving Refugees. That the countries which take in a great number of displaced persons and refugees may find support for their efforts which show solidarity.

Collaboration of Priests and Laity. That within parishes, priests and lay people may collaborate in service to the community without giving in to the temptation of discouragement.

HOW WE SHOULD ACT TOWARD GOD

“Consider not only that God your benefactor is present, but also that He acts continuously in all His creatures. And for whom is this continual action, this work of God in nature? For you.

Thus, He lights you by the light of day; He nourishes you with the productions of the earth; in a word, He serves you by each one of the creatures that you use; so that it is true to say that at every moment the bounty, the wisdom and the power of God are at your service and are exercised in the world for your wants or pleasures. This conduct of God toward man should be the model of your conduct toward God. You see that the presence of God in His creatures is never idle; it acts incessantly, it preserves, it governs.

Beware, then, of stopping at a sterile contemplation of God present in yourself. Add action to contemplation; to the sight of the Divine presence add the faithful accomplishment of the Divine will.” – Saint Ignatius

TO WELCOME THE STRANGER IS TO WELCOME CHRIST, POPE FRANCIS SAYS

Vatican City, October 26th, 2016 – The Catholic News Agency and EWTN News reported that Pope Francis said that when we perform the corporal works of mercy – specifically welcoming the stranger in the form of migrants and refugees – we are welcoming Christ in them, and helping to restore their full dignity as humans. “These works, in fact, make evident that Christians are not tired and lazy in waiting for the final encounter with the Lord, but every day go out, recognizing his face in the many people asking for help.” Continuing his reflection on the corporal works of mercy, the Pope’s catechesis during his October 26th general audience centered on Matthew 25:35-36: “I was a stranger and you welcomed me, naked and you clothed me.”

The works of mercy related to strangers are “timelier than ever,” he said, adding that “the economic crisis, armed conflict and climate change drive many people to emigrate.” “However, migration is not a new phenomenon,” but one that belongs to the “history of humanity,” he noted, adding that to think that migration is only a contemporary problem shows a “lack of historical memory.” “The history of mankind is the history of migrations in all latitudes, there is no people that has not known the phenomenon of migration.” The solution, then, is solidarity in performing the works of mercy, the Pope said. “Today, the context of economic crisis unfortunately favors the emergence of attitudes of closure and not welcome. In some parts of the world walls and barriers arise,” he said. “Closure is not a solution, in fact, it ultimately benefits criminal trafficking. The only solution is that of solidarity.”

Pope Francis explained that clothing the naked – while it certainly means giving clothes to those who have none – can also include helping victims of trafficking and anyone who has fallen victim to the use of the human body as a “commodity.” Also, those who “do not have a job, a house, a just wage,” or those who are discriminated against because of their race or faith, “are all forms of ‘nudity’ before which we as Christians are called to be attentive, vigilant and ready to act.”

The Pope referenced St. Frances Cabrini as an example of someone who dedicated her life to migrants in the U.S., pointing out that the Christian commitment in the area of migration is as urgent today as it was in the past. “Even today we need such testimony because mercy can reach many in need,” he said. “It is a commitment that involves everyone, without exception. Dioceses, parishes, institutes of consecrated life, associations and movements, as individual Christians, we are called to welcome the brothers and sisters fleeing war, famine, violence and inhumane living conditions.”

Francis also talked about the many examples of refugees and migrants in the Bible, including Abraham, called to leave his country by God; the people of Israel, who were in the desert for 40 years after being freed from slavery in Egypt; and the Holy Family, who had to flee Herod.

“Dear brothers and sisters,” he urged, “do not fall into the trap of closing in on ourselves, indifferent to the needs of brothers and worried only about our own interests.” All together, we can be a “great strength of support for those who have lost home, family, work and dignity,” he said. “And to clothe the naked, what is it but to restore dignity to those who have lost it? It is precisely to the extent that we open ourselves to others, that life becomes fruitful, society regains peace, and people recover their full dignity.”

YOU DID IT FOR ME

When the Son of Man comes in his glory, and all the angels with him, he will sit upon his glorious throne, and all the nations will be assembled before him. And he will separate them one from another, as a shepherd separates the sheep from the goats. He will place the sheep on his right and the goats on his left.

Then the king will say to those on his right, “Come, you who are blessed by my Father. Inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world. For I was hungry and you gave me food, I was thirsty and you gave me drink, a stranger and you welcomed me, naked and you clothed me, ill and you cared for me, in prison and you visited me.”

Then the righteous will answer him and say, “Lord, when did we see you hungry and feed you, or thirsty and give you drink? When did we see you a stranger and welcome you, or naked and clothe you? When did we see you ill or in prison, and visit you?” And the king will say to them in reply, “Amen, I say to you, whatever you did for one of these least brothers of mine, you did for me.” (Matthew 25:31-40)

NOVEMBER – THE MONTH OF THE HOLY SOULS IN PURGATORY

By Scott P. Richert, Catholic Author

The Catholic Church dedicates the month of November to the Holy Souls in Purgatory, those faithful Christians who have died and gone before us but who still must atone for their sins. The time they spend in Purgatory cleanses them so that they may enter Heaven free from all effects of sin.

Praying for the dead, especially for those we have known, is a requirement of Christian charity. Our own prayers and sacrifices can be offered up to relieve the suffering of the faithful departed, and help them so that they can enter more quickly into the fullness of Heaven.

“Eternal Rest,” one of the most commonly recited Catholic prayers in times past, has fallen into disuse in the last few decades. Prayer for the dead, however, is one of the greatest acts of charity we can perform.

Eternal Rest

Eternal rest grant unto them, O Lord, and let perpetual light shine upon them. May the souls of the faithful departed, through the mercy of God, rest in peace. Amen.

If you are offering this prayer for a particular person, you can substitute “him” or “her” for “them.”

“Yet how quickly we could empty purgatory if we but really wished to.”

Saint John Marie Vianney
